

CONCRETE SOCIETY OF SOUTHERN AFRICA

Academic Institution

MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

Membership to be read in conjunction with the Memorandum of Incorporation of the Society.

The Concrete Society of Southern Africa NPC realises the importance of being able to engage with students who are the future lifeblood of the concrete industry. Being able to provide services that are valued by students is at the forefront of the Society's agenda. Attempts in the past to recruit Student Members of the Society have proved fairly unsuccessful, and there is no doubt that the membership fee is not affordable by many these days.

The Academic Institution category of membership carries an annual membership fee and would cover academic, teaching, research and technical staff engaged by the academic institution (maximum 10 per institution), and to full time post-graduate (Masters and PhD) students and final-year undergraduate students undertaking programmes of study relevant to the interests and activities of the Society.

Three key aspects of the Student Membership is the ability of the Society to:

- ▶ Linking students seeking employment with the industry
- ▶ Provide technical resources that may assist in research and assignments, through our seminars, conferences and technical papers in Concrete Beton
- ▶ Provide a 'concrete' community that will remain with them throughout their professional development/career

Upon joining the Society through their academic institution, each student would have the ability to provide details of their study, upload their CV and select their key areas of interest. The Society has a base of Companies to whom it can provide these student details. The Society would encourage students to view the list of its Members.

Benefits for the Academic Institution:

- ▶ Voting rights
- ▶ Right to nominate for Branch Committees
- ▶ 10 Complimentary issues of Concrete Beton
- ▶ Discount on seminar fees for staff and students
- ▶ Access to Members' Only service on the website (Concrete Beton on-line, ACI, etc.)
- ▶ Being part of a concrete community which will assist in it keeping in touch with industry
